(From Our Regular Correspondent.) WASHINGTON, D. Decidedly the most interesting feature of the bill, and the most important provision is the one which says that an appropriation from the nationa, government, in aid of the exposition shall not be made "until the Jamestown Exposition Company shall have raised to the satisfaction of the Secretary of the Trensury a sum of two million dollars for and on account of inaugurating and carrying forward said exhibit upon land udfacent to Hampton Roads," etc.

The Exposition Company raised a million with the help of the Virgina Legislature. It will be hard work, indeed, to raise a sum twice as large.

MAN AND WIFE FOUND

TWO ORPHANS AS PLAYED BY STARS

Old Play Given -a Splendid Revival Last Night.

An all-star cast does not necessarily mean the best production of a play. The presentation of "The Two Orphans" at the Academy last night was beyond doub as splendid performance, but smoother and more finished productions of the old play have certainly been given by companies quite as capable, though the individual members may not have been so well

The company was a most excellent one, and some of the roles were finely portrayed. Mr. J. E. Dodson, as Flerre, the crippled knife-grinder, appealed strongly to the sympathics of the audience in the impersonation of this poor unfortunate. It was a splendid portrayal of the role. Mr. James O'Neill was well suited to the part of Chevaller Mauriso De Vandrey, its romantic style of acting showing to advantage in several scenes and in two of the climixes. One almost expected to hear him say "One, two, three," as he struck his pose and made the picture, Mr. William Beach, as Count de Sinieres, gave a good reading of that part.

Miss Isabel Irving, in the difficult role of Louise, gave a beautiful conception of the billed and The company was a most excellent one the blind girl, and Miss Sarah Tomax, as Henriette, played with fine effect, and portrayed with feeling all the emotion the part demanded. Mrs. Le Moyne, as the Countess, at times too-much resembled the elecutionist, and there was an effort in her reading of some of the lines that detracted from their force, rather than adding to it.

Much interest naturally centered in the appearage of Clark Moyris, the famous appearance of Clara Morris, the famous actress. She was cast as Sister Genevieve. A respect and almost veneration for her was felt by the entire audience. The famous and beloved actress possibly out. weakened the part by attempting to get too much out of it, but she was splendidly many an actor whose name would be un-known to the majority of theatre-goers. Mr. Jameson Lee Pinney was not goers. Mr. Jameson Lee Frince, was not above the average as Picard. Elita Proctor Otis gave all of the usual traits to La Trochard, in which role the was excellent, and Bljou Fernandez was entirely satisfactory as Marianne.

"The Sign of the Four." Walter Edwards and his company began an engagement of it week at the Blou lust evening, presenting a revised version of Sir A. Conan Doyle's famous detecan engagement of weak weak and consider the state of the State of the Four."

Ar. Coman Doyle's famous detective story, 'The Sign of the Four.'

Ar. Edwards, of course, has the role of 'Sherlock Holmes,' and around him the production centers. It is the story of a murder and robbery, the pauperizing of a wealthy girl, and his effort to have her property restored that he enters the case, and by 'observation and deduction' he unerringly goes to the marrow of things from the start, to the chagrin of the work of Mr. Edwards it is not necessary to say one word; he is known here as an actor of ability and strength. His support is good, especially that of Miss Hadsell, as 'Mary Marston.' the orphan, and Mrss. Adra Aniside, as 'Trene Adler,' 'the woman who does not forget, the latter being particularly strong in the scene when she restores the 'Baptisoned girl, 'Mary Marston.' whom she has entrapped when she applies for a position at the home of 'Tene Adler.'

"Eartholomew Shotto," as portrayed by 'Bhl. Graves, was the leading consedy rice.

Eleanor Robson To-night. Eleanor Robson To-night.

One of the most interesting events of the theatrical season in Richmond will be the appearance at the Academy to-night and to-morrow night of Miss Eleanor Robson, the youthful star who has made such a success in Israel Zang-will's "Merely Mary Ann," both in London and New York Miss Robson has just returned from London, where she played for three months at the Duke of York's Theatre, a run of remarkable length for an American actress to make in the British metropolis.

Frank Mills, who has won a high place for himself in the dramatic profession, both of this country and England, has been induced to return to America to hiny the part of Lancelot. Miss Robson, and although an American, of the Stormy Weather Caused Holiday.

Promotions This Week.

Owing to the extremely cold weather and the severe snow-storm, there was no session of the public schools yesterday. Superintendent Fox early in the morning saw the futility of calling school and directed the Firs Alarm Department to send out the school-closing alarm, which was sounded from the various frebells. The alarm is "9-2-2." but when it was sounded very few persons knew what it meant and hundred of youngstors, wrapped up in their warmens, went to school, as usual. They found the doors closed for the day and most of them returned with a hurrah and spent much of the day snow-balling and coasing. ... and enforced holiday interfored very little wan the school studies as the intermediate examinations are over and promotion was be made to-morrow. Remarkably Speedy Run Over Ormond-Daytona Beach Establishes Record.

(By Associated Press.)
ORMOND, FLA., Jan. 30.—While there is no world's record for one hundred miles to compare with the run that was made this morning by H. W. It is believed that the remarkably speedy run that the Change Toward Press the Change Tow It is believed that the remarkably speeds over the Ormond-Daytona Beach, with its seven turns in the one hundred miles, will stand as a world's record until the meet here in 1966. The winning car was undoubtedly a dark horse, for there were three or four more likely starters. There were a number of ac-cidents to machines, trifling for the time be-ling, but of sufficient importance to put them out of the running.

The turn at the Ormond end was a good point of vantage, and hundreds of spectators assembled there to witness the approach and help-raising turns. Machonald displayed great skill in turning, as did also Mr. Wallace, and the two professionals. Sartori and Bernin. When the machines reached the sixteen mile post on the second turn, they had traveled forty-six miles. Mr. MacDonald's car was still leading the procession, but Mr. Wallace had gained one minute or more. Mr. Fletcher, in his heavy machine had outstripped the lighter ones, and Mr. Christie was fooming up as a strong possibility. After going sixty miles, MacDonald decided some distance from the chibbduse strength of the first was then in the lead, but was done for, as he had.

During the latter half of the race, accidents happened to most of the machines. Mr. MacDonald punctured a tire, as stated; Mr. Stevens seared a cyclinder so badly that he had to drop, out. Mr. Sartori opened a leak in his gasolene tank and had to stop long enough to plug it up, and there were other minor troubles. Meantime, Mr. Wallace and Mr. Fletcher were plugging along smoothly and swiftly, with Bernin and Sartori close in the rear. Mr. Wallace got lind trouble with only six-cen miles to go. He lurst an inner tube in his left front tire, yet he kept life post and dished the turn stead of first or second, with seven and eight miles lend over Fletcher, in the order of getting away at the start, finished first, but there was belied over Fletcher, in the order of getting away at the start, finished first, but there was no help for it.
